Today, at Peter Lehmann Wines the art of winemaking goes hand in hand with the many people, stories and wines that make the Barossa famous.

It is now part of Barossa legend that Peter Lehmann established the winery in the late 1970s, to protect the livelihood of growers who were facing financial ruin. To this day over 140 growers, some 5th & 6th generation, supply us with fruit from the very best vineyards throughout the Barossa. These amazing grape resources enable us to make wines for every occasion, each one hand crafted to over deliver in quality and value.

Peter Lehmann Wines has developed a reputation as one of Australia's most respected, premium wine producers, twice awarded the International Winemaker of the Year, and three times awarded Best Australian Producer at the IWSC.
